

Staying Safe Online

Useful websites

Recommended websites

UK Safer Internet Centre

The UK Safer Internet Centre exists to promote the safe and responsible use of technology for young people.

The centre has 3 main functions:

1. Awareness Centre: to provide advice and support to children and young people, parents and carers and schools.

Helpline

2. Helpline: to provide support to professionals working with children and young people with online safety issues.

Hotline

3. Hotline: an anonymous and safe place to report and remove child sexual abuse imagery and videos, wherever they are found in the world.

Recommended websites

UK Safer Internet Centre

The website has some helpful social media guides which explain the safety features available on these popular social networks.

Find out more:

www.saferinternet.org.uk

Recommended websites

internetmatters.org

This website can help you or your family get to grips with what you may come across on the internet and how to get help if you need it.

The website is in partnership with:

Advice

It's a good place to get expert advice on issues that matter most to you.

It's also a good place to give you the knowledge and skills to keep safe online.

Recommended websites

internetmatters.org

The website has some helpful guide to apps. These are aimed at parents but are also really useful ways to find out more about the dangers different apps.

Chatroulette

whisper

tinder

Find out more:

www.internetmatters.org

Recommended websites

National Autistic Society

It's sometimes easy to forget that there's an element of risk to being online. For someone with autism, it can be even harder to deal with those risks.

The National Autistic Society has some useful information on the hazards of the internet.

It also gives some advice on what you can do to minimize risks in order to make the most of everything the internet has to offer.

The website also has a safe Community Forum to talk to others online and share thoughts and experiences. It's free to join and a great way to share support.

community.autism.org.uk

Recommended websites

National Autistic Society

Four risk areas which are particularly relevant to people with autism are misunderstandings, obsessiveness, bullying, and money issues.

The website gives more information about each of these areas and what you can do to deal with these risks.

Find out more:

www.autism.org.uk/staying-safe-online

If you need help
there are a number of organisations that can help.

Reporting suspicious behavior

Child Exploitation Online Protection Centre

If you know someone who is behaving suspiciously online towards a child, you should report it.

In an emergency, contact the emergency services by calling 999.

Emergency

Otherwise make a report to CEOP, the Child Exploitation Online Protection Centre.

Report Online

Click here to make a report

www.ceop.gov.uk

Reporting hate speech, hate incidents or hate crimes

True Vision

Hate Crime

Hate crimes and incidents come in many different forms.

It can be because of hatred on the grounds of your race, religion, sexual orientation, transgender identity or disability.

Report

Hate crime in any form is wrong. That is why it is important that if hate crime happens to you or someone you know, that you report it.

Click here to report a crime or incident

<http://www.report-it.org.uk/home>

Reporting fraud and cyber crime

Action Fraud

Fraud is when trickery is used to take things from you. It usually involves money.

Cyber crime is any criminal act dealing with computers and networks.

Report

Action Fraud is the reporting centre for fraud and cybercrime where you should report fraud if you have been scammed, defrauded or experienced cyber crime

Click here to make a report

<https://www.actionfraud.police.uk/>

Working in partnership

Ace Anglia LeadingLives
Your life / Our support